

Bubbles

This image highlights residues of insulin, colored by how pathogenic mutations to that residue are predicted to be. Red indicates a residue where mutations are likely to be pathogenic, blue indicates benign, and grey indicates no prediction available. Red/blue and blue/red coloring indicates a mix of predicted effects. Predictions made using EV

